Two companies committed to a single goal.....superior results

We are pleased to announce that Delmac Machinery will be merged into SCM Group North America on April 4th. Two independently successful companies, each with a reputation as an industry leader in the supply of high technology manufacturing equipment, will now work together as a team with one common goal:

SUPERIOR RESULTS

Delmac Machinery Group has been operating as a wholly owned subsidiary of SCM Group, Italy since 2006. By combining our service network, product sales specialists and back office support, as well as our collective manufacturing knowledge, we aim to build the strongest and most diverse machinery manufacturing company in the industry.

We have joined together some of the best and the brightest people in our industry to form a team whose main goal is to supply our customers solutions that help you succeed in your business. Our resulting company will be stronger in terms of customer service, parts provision, and customer sales support. Our product offering will be more comprehensive.

We will operate under one name - SCM Group North America, Inc.

We will maintain our NC showroom and service facility for the brands Busellato and Casadei, which will be marketed through a separate distribution network. Our other brands of Celaschi, IDM, OMAL and Bonacin will be transitioned into SCM's Atlanta office and marketing through this sales channel. We will continue to support our existing Mayer panel saw customers with service and parts.

In order to make this transition as seamless as possible for you, most of our contact information will remain the same. As we progress, we will advise you of any new contact information you may need.
