3.3 General Contractor Responsibility

a) The work of all other trades and assurance that the hold-to/guaranteed dimensions remain enforced is that of the general contractor, not of the manufacturer/supplier and/or installer. The general contractor is responsible for communication of design and field changes to all parties so that, if dimensions are changed, each subcontractor can be held responsible for their work.